PREPARED BY: Ryan Baker

The first step in executing the Road Map for delivering high quality services to older adults was to determine what services are currently being offered by existing service providers and assess their impact. A core group of service providers was chosen and interviewed to determine to what extent they are fulfilling the Road Map goals. The providers chosen were:

1. Live Oak Nutrition
2. Live Oak Day Care
3. LGS Rec/55 Plus
4. Jewish Family Services
5. SASCC
6. West Valley Community Services
7. KCAT

The goals currently being met by these service providers are summarized here as well as the needs that they view as necessary to fill the service gaps that they have identified.

GOAL ONE: APPEALING AND INVITING FACILITY

Live Oak Senior Nutrition

Seeking a new facility to consolidate services.

LGS Rec/55 Plus

Serve as partners in plans to build a new senior center, providing valuable feedback in the design of senior focused space.

Jewish and Family Services-Silicon Valley

Envisions a physical location where older adults can convene to participate in programs that will enhance their cognitive, emotional, physical and spiritual well-being.

GOAL TWO: CORE SENIOR SERVICES

Live Oak Senior Nutrition

Provides: Affordable lunchtime meals and supportive interaction, including tai chi, yoga, bingo, computer workouts, blood pressure tests, and speakers on senior topics. It provides hot lunches to seniors on Monday through Friday. Free food is distributed on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Serves 80-90 clients a day.

Advocates for extended services for seniors.

Solicits and uses volunteers.

Needs: More funding. Live Oak is projecting an approximate budget shortfall of $103,000.

Expansion goal: More exercise and workshop programs.

Extend Second Harvest food donation program. Get a truck and hire a driver.

Get RYDE to transport 15-20 seniors

Expand marketing beyond word of mouth

Obtain more grants to pay for meals

Work with high schools to help with bullying during lunch time

Provide extended hours during extreme weather (need more staffing).

Physical space to consolidate senior services

Live Oak Day Care

Provides: 20 frail older adults with socialization and cognitive stimulation. It also assists client caregivers with respite and support services.

Needs: LODC markets primarily by word of mouth, although it also has a website and it receives referrals from other agencies. It needs to increase its client base in Los Gatos by more robust marketing.

LGS/Rec 55 Plus

Provides: Free or low cost access to social activities, fitness classes, players groups, community gatherings, health education programs, and access to resources. Has 700 dues paying members, 80% of whom are over the age of 70. In 2022, it offered 1267 programs and had 9172 encounters. Recently received a grant of $1M payable over 4 years to augment for this year, the $225K provided by the town for its services.

Needs: Permanently incorporate 55 Plus into the Los Gatos town budget to cover the costs of its free and low cost senior programs.

KCAT

Provides: Social and educational services to older adults through the Producers Network.

Jewish and Family Services-Silicon Valley

Provides: JFS SV assists older adults with safely living at home as long as possible with dignity. This is done by care managers completing extensive assessments and client-directed care plans. A key component of this is home care.

Needs: JFS SV would like to fill the gap arising from older adults who do not qualify for Medi-Cal and in home supportive services but do not make enough to afford the high hourly cost of homecare. This requires additional funding.

West Valley Community Services

Provides: WVCS provides food, housing, and support services to low income and homeless individuals and families. The services provided include food markets (fixed and mobile), CARE (a safety net program for low income and unhoused clients (i.e., emergency funds for rent and utilities), support (Haven to Home (i.e., workshops, benefit clients, resource fairs, bus passes, laundry, counseling, and special events).

Needs: WVCS is projecting a loss of rental assistance extras and a cutback from Second Harvest Food Bank. Hence, it is projecting a need for more funding and other food providers. WVCS sees a need for a mobile crisis response team and a mental health facility in the west valley. WVCS has a few programs that, if at all possible, should be continued (assuming adequate funding is available). These are The Tenant Based Rental Agreement and budget workshops and digital inclusivity training. WVCS hopes to participate in the awarding of $100,000 ($50,000 from Los Gatos and $50,000 from the county) for homeless services and intends to reapply for a sustaining grant from Los Gatos.

GOAL THREE: COMMUNICATION AND ENGAGEMENT

Live Oak Day Care

Provides: LODC's most important deliverable is socialization and client engagement. It provides cognitive stimulation and assists client caregivers with respite and support services.

Needs: See summary for LODC under Goal Two.

LGS/Rec 55 Plus

Provides: Mails a program brochure twice yearly to more than 7,000 people over 55 to announce social and educational programs of potential interest.

Emails the monthly PRINT newspaper to all households in Los Gatos. The PRINT includes numerous feature stories about Los Gatos and lists Los Gatos public meetings and events occurring in Los Gatos.

Worked with the CHSSC to create and develop an online information HUB specifically targeted at older adults. The HUB is housed on its website and the staff is responsible for maintaining it.

KCAT

Provides: KCAT offers opportunities for older adults to participate with others, volunteer in meaningful and productive activities and engage in the community. For example, the Producers Network trains older adults in conducting interviews. It also has older adults assist with classes and activities such as Jazz on the Plazz and the annual Children's Christmas and Holidays parade.

KCAT publicizes senior services available in Los Gatos.

KCAT collaborates with other local organizations to promote community events and services. For example, it collaborates with the Rotary Clubs and other town service providers.

KCAT communicates and engages with older adults via email and their online newsletter-Zines.

Needs: KCAT has offered to help advertise and develop videos for the HUB. It should be requested to do this.

KCAT should be asked to continue to publicize and advertise senior services available in the town.

KCAT should be asked to continue to collaborate with local organizations to promote community events and services and asked to continue to publicize senior services available in the town.

KCAT should be asked to continue to help with promoting special social activities, promoting programs with an emphasis on multigenerational activities, and contributing to developing and training classes to enhance marketable skills.

Jewish and Family Services-Silicon Valley

Provides: JFS SV has a bi-monthly newsletter (“Staying Connected”) that is connected to a grant and partnership with El Camino Hospital. The newsletter reaches about 1,000 people.

Needs: JFS SV must increase community awareness of its older adult programming.

More outreach to non-Jewish population.

Develop more strategic partnerships with the community to optimize service delivery to the community.

Successful Aging Solutions and Community Consulting (SASCC)

Provides: SASCC provides the Outlook newspaper (which goes to approximately 18,000 households in Los Gatos) and runs a Health Fair. The Outlook includes numerous feature stories about Los Gatos, and lists Los Gatos public meetings and events occurring in Los Gatos. Needs: n/a

GOAL FOUR: VOLUNTEER SUPPORT AND ENGAGEMENT

Live Oak Senior Nutrition

Provides: Live Oak meets goal four by providing exercise, games, and promoting multigenerational activity by using high school students as volunteers

LGS/Rec 55 Plus

Provides: Heavily invested in volunteering. 15 weekly volunteer facilitated programs. Uses both senior and high school volunteers for day trips, games, and social events. Also partners with service clubs.

Needs: Volunteers require staff oversight, training, and support.

KCAT

Provides: KCAT allows older adults to volunteer in a variety of capacities, including as media technicians, making podcasts, producing videos, and interviewing people.

Needs: KCAT has offered to assist with developing and coordinating volunteer opportunity exchanges (i.e., help establish a volunteer corp).

Jewish and Family Services-Silicon Valley

Provides: JFS SV has an extensive network of volunteers offering an array of supportive services ranging from basic transportation to knitting groups providing hand woven blankets and clothing. Their volunteers provide companionship as “Friendly Visitors.” JFS SV recruits, trains, and retains volunteers. They screen and train all volunteers.

Needs: Given its past experience with volunteer support and engagement, JFS SV should perhaps take the lead in creating and sustaining a community-wide volunteer corp.

GOAL FIVE: ENHANCEMENT TRANSPORTATION OPTIONS

Live Oak Senior Nutrition

Provides: Live Oak provides VTA bus pass and gas subsidies to clients

SASCC:

Provides: SASCC supports the RYDE program, which is a curb to curb transportation services for adults 65 plus in Los Gatos and other local communities. In fiscal year 2022-2023, there were 189 Los Gatos residents utilizing RYDE.

Needs: n/a

Jewish and Family Services-Silicon Valley

Provides: n/a

Needs: JFS SV is committed to being an integral part of the process in creating effective, affordable and sustainable transportation solutions for older adults in Silicon Valley. JFS SV should be asked to participate in this process.

GOAL SIX: SENIOR HOUSING

Jewish and Family Services-Silicon Valley

Provides: Susan Frazer, the CEO of JFS SV is on the Santa Clara County Long Term Supports and Services Committee where she participates in policy decision making on issues impacting older adults.

Needs: JFS SV should be requested to continue its involvement in the Long Term Supports and Services Committee and other leaders of service providers should be encouraged to also participate.

GOAL SEVEN: Integrated Governance, Funding and Accountability

LGS/Rec 55 Plus

Needs: Permanent lease abatement for the use of senior service facilities.

Jewish and Family Services-Silicon Valley

Provides: n/a

Needs: JFS SV has indicated it is willing to participate in policy development that supports older adults. Susan Frazer, the CEO, sits on the Silicon Valley Council of Non-Profits as the representative for older adults. The Center for Aging and Caregiver Services is part of JFS SV's strategic plan. They also have a finance team, leadership team, advisory committee, and board of directors. They should be requested to participate in assisting in integrating governance.

JFS SV also should be requested to assist with developing diversified funding for services and with accountability (as they occasionally create and utilize satisfaction surveys and regular audits to improve older adult services).

SASCC:

Provides: SASCC's efforts include community assessment surveys for older adults as well as proposals submitted in response to the town's allocation of ARPA funds, based upon the assessed level of need for older adults. The survey helped in establishing a baseline and continuing understanding of the needs of older adults in Los Gatos.

Needs: n/a
